Dear Families,
 Another super week in school. We have been extremely busy hosting today's delayed World Book Day; the children look just stunning. Thank you so much for your support.
 Speaking of support, I must thank Mr. Smith our Caretaker who leaves us today to enjoy a well-earned retirement. Thank you so much for everything you've done for our lovely school. Enjoy your retirement and stay super safe. I hope your holiday goes ahead as planned too!
 We as a school are signing up to Operation Encompass – this helps provide support for at home where required and again shows our total commitment to excellent safeguarding that is effective at all times of course.
 I hope you've managed to see our Masked Reader work on Twitter – the children have loved guessing the readers. Many thanks to Mr. Ormondroyd for putting the video together.
 So almost Easter Time! I wish you all a blessed holiday period in the Church's most important time of the year. I know our children have studied the Easter Story and some have prepared gifts to bring home. Thank you to the staff for your hard work in helping to make this time of year special.
 I hope that everyone has chance to venture out and see the sights of Easter and new life over the holiday. The children have been amazing since our return and it's a shame the holiday has arrived so quickly. Nonetheless, please enjoy some special family time and I can promise that the Easter Eggs have been well earned by our lovely children.
 Have a super weekend, enjoy the better weather and as always

 Look out on Twitter for some sensational news – practically platinum perfect news!
 I am hoping for some good news around competitive sport at the end of the month (Monday) and hopefully this will get all of us 'back on to the pitch' straight after the holiday.

Maestro On Music
 Happy Easter to all – keep your eyes peeled for more Joseph news after the break.
